

Following, Tracking in Communications and Email Notifications

C4D can create a high number of notifications, alerting you of new activity in the platform, either in your default connections streams, a newly created custom stream or by email. You have different options to receive email notifications depending on the type of activity.

Following

You can follow people, content or groups in Collaboration for Development: new activity related to the content, users or places that you follow will appear under the NEW connection streams, accessible through the top menu.

Change Your Preferences

By default the platform will send you notifications when certain activities occur. To change your default email notifications settings:

- Click on your profile name then select the Preferences tab.
- Here you can choose to set notification options from “On” to “Off” depending on your interests.
